Lesson Plans – Week 5

HS/TE21/0003

Grade 7

Name of the teacher	HS/TE21/0003
Class	Grade 7
Date	05,06/10/2026
Time	40 minutes
No. of students	42
Rationale	The lesson develops students' ability to produce a short informal letter by first helping them identify the structure and language of the model letter and then gradually moving towards independent writing. The model letter provides students with a clear example of how ideas are organized into an address/date, greeting, opening, main message, closing and signature.
Main aim	By the end of the lesson, students will be able to write a short informal letter to a friend describing what they like to do during their free time, using an appropriate letter format, relevant vocabulary and reasonably accurate sentences.
ILOs	At the end of the lesson, the students will be able to, • Identify the main components of an informal letter. • Write a reply letter expressing own ideas.

Pre-task 1	Help students remember, understand and analyze the structure and content of an informal letter.	1. Ask students to read the model letter silently for 1–2 minutes. 2. Ask comprehension questions: Who wrote the letter? Who received it? What activity does Tony like? What does Tony ask Rizwi to write about? 3. Ask students to identify the	Ss T-Ss	Textbook Board	8 minutes parts of the letter. 4. Teacher elicits answers and labels the model on the board: Address / Date / Greeting / Opening / Main body / Closing / Signature. 5. Teacher highlights useful expressions such as Dear..., Thank you for..., I like..., I hope..., With love...

Pre-task 2	Prepare students for their own writing.	Teacher asks students to think about one or two activities they enjoy. Students tell a partner: “In my free time, I like...” and “I like it	Ss-Ss T-Ss	Board	2 minutes because...” Teacher gives one example.

While-task	Enable students to apply the letter structure and create their own short informal letter.	Teacher displays a sample informal letter structure on the board. With the help of the teacher, students individually write a reply letter to Tony. Teacher monitors the students for their structure and vocabulary.	T-Ss	Board Writing books	15 minutes
Post-task	Develop students' ability to evaluate and improve their writing.	1. Students exchange their letters with a partner. 2. Give/put the following checklist on the board:	Ss-Ss	Writing books	10 minutes

		✓ Has an appropriate greeting? ✓ Has the writer mentioned free-time activities? ✓ Has the writer given a reason? ✓ Is there a closing and name? ✓ Are the sentences understandable? 3. Students check their partner's letter. 4. Students return the letters and make one improvement to their own writing.

Topic – Wonders around Us

Name of the teacher	HS/TE21/0003
Class	Grade 7
Date	07/10/2026
Time	40 minutes
No. of students	42
Rationale	The lesson introduces students to the theme "Wonders Around Us" through a short, meaningful dialogue about famous places. The dialogue gives students opportunities to develop reading comprehension, listening, pronunciation and speaking skills while learning how to express a wish or preference using "I would like to…"
Main aim	By the end of the lesson, students will be able to understand and participate in a short dialogue about places they would like to visit, using the structure "I would like to…" appropriately.
ILOs	At the end of the lesson, the students will be able to, • Identify the names and places mentioned in the text. • Use the structure "I would like to…" to talk about a place they would like to visit.
Personal aims	• To give clear and simple instructions. • To encourage students to actively participate in the lesson.

Rationale	The future continuous tense is an important grammatical structure that enables learners to describe actions that will be in progress at a particular time in the future. Teaching this grammatical structure to Grade 7 learners is important because it expands their ability to communicate about future events more precisely and meaningfully. At this stage, learners need opportunities to develop their grammatical knowledge while using English in familiar, real-life contexts. Therefore, this lesson is designed to help students understand the form and function of the future continuous tense and apply it appropriately in both spoken and written communication.
Main aim	To develop students' ability to understand and use the future continuous tense to describe actions that will be in progress at a particular time in the future through meaningful, student-centered activities.
ILOs	At the end of this lesson, the students will be able to, • Identify the future continuous tense in given sentences and short texts.

<tr><td colspan="2"></td><td colspan="4">• Construct grammatically correct affirmative, negative, and interrogative sentences using the future continuous tense.</td></tr>
<tr><td colspan="2">Personal aims</td><td colspan="4">• Give clear and age-appropriate explanations of the future continuous tense using familiar examples from students' daily lives.
• Increase student participation by providing opportunities for pair work, group work, and individual practice.
• Monitor students' understanding throughout the lesson and provide appropriate support to learners who experience difficulties.</td></tr>
<tr><td colspan="2" rowspan="4">Anticipated problems and solutions</td><td colspan="2">Problem</td><td colspan="2">Solution</td></tr>
<tr><td colspan="2">Students may omit be and say, "I will studying." They may incorrectly apply the simple future structure to the continuous form.</td><td colspan="2">Display the structure will + be + verb-ing on the board.</td></tr>
<tr><td colspan="2">Students may use the base form instead of the -ing form, such as "She will be cook." Students may be unfamiliar with the verb forms required in continuous tenses.</td><td colspan="2">Revise common verbs and their -ing forms. Provide examples such as play → playing, write → writing, and run → running.</td></tr>

Students share their answers using the simple future tense where appropriate. 3. The teacher writes two answers on the board and introduces a question: "What will you be doing at 8 p.m. tonight?"
Pre-task 2: Picture-based Prediction	To introduce the meaning of actions that will be in progress at a particular	1. The teacher displays pictures of familiar activities, such as	T-Ss Ss-Ss	7 minutes	Pictures on the board (see appendix A) time in the future.	studying, cooking, playing cricket, and watching television. 2. The teacher gives a future time, such as 8 p.m. tomorrow. 3. Students predict what different people will be doing at that time. 4. The teacher elicits responses and writes an example: "At 8 p.m. tomorrow, Nimal will be studying." 5. Students identify the time and the action in the sentence.

While-task 1: Discover the Grammar	To help students discover the form and use of the future continuous tense.	1. The teacher writes three sentences on the board: (a) I will be studying at 8 p.m. (b) She will not be watching television at 9 p.m. (c) Will they be playing cricket tomorrow afternoon? 2. Students work in pairs to identify the common parts of the sentences. 3. The teacher guides them to discover the structure: Subject + will + be + verb-ing.	T–Ss, Ss–Ss	10 minutes	Whiteboard

		4. The teacher explains affirmative, negative, and interrogative forms and clarifies that the tense describes an action that will be in progress at a particular future time.
While-task 2: Guided Grammar Practice	To develop students' ability to form the future continuous tense accurately.	1. The teacher writes three incomplete sentences. 2. Students complete the sentences using the correct verb forms. 3. Examples: (a) At 7 p.m. tonight, I _____ (study). (b) They _____ (play)	Ss-Ss T-Ss	12 minutes	Writing books cricket at 4 p.m. tomorrow. (c) She _____ not _____ (watch) television at 8 p.m. 4. Students compare their answers in pairs. 5. The teacher checks answers with the whole class and provides corrective feedback.

While-task 3: Future Time Role-play	To enable students to use the future continuous tense in meaningful spoken communication.	1. The teacher divides students into pairs. 2. Each pair receives a situation containing a future time and a context,	T-Ss Ss-Ss	15 minutes	Writing books such as tomorrow evening, next Sunday afternoon, or this time next week. 3. Students ask and answer questions about what they or other people will be doing at those times. 4. Example: A: "What will you be doing at 6 p.m. tomorrow?" B: "I will be helping my mother. " A: "Will you be studying at 8 p.m.?" B: "Yes, I will." 5. A few pairs present their conversations to the class. 6. The teacher monitors students and notes common errors for later feedback.

Post-task 1: Create a Future Schedule	To develop students' ability to apply the future continuous tense creatively in a familiar context.	1. Students work in small groups. 2. Each group receives a situation: "Imagine that it is next Sunday. Create a schedule showing what your group members will be doing at different times." 3. Students write at least five sentences using different	Ss-Ss	15 minutes	Papers markers times and activities. 4. Example: "At 7 a.m., I will be preparing breakfast." "At 10 a.m., my brother will be playing cricket." 5. Groups present their sentences. 6. The teacher and classmates provide constructive feedback on grammar and meaning.

Post-task 2: Exit Ticket and Reflection	To assess individual learning and identify areas requiring further practice.	1. Each student independently completes three short tasks: (a) Complete a sentence	Ss-Ss T-Ss	8 minutes	Writing books using the correct future continuous form. (b) Change an affirmative sentence into a negative sentence. (c) Write one sentence describing an action that will be in progress at a specific future time. 2. The teacher collects the responses and checks students' understanding. 3. The teacher briefly reviews the structure and addresses common errors.
