Positive features of the lesson:

The lesson was well planned with clear focus on prepositions. Before she came for the target prepositions, she reminded some other prepositions frequently used. She was able to create an atmosphere which encouraged students to participate actively.

Points to work on for the next lesson:

It is better, if she can provide opportunities for students to write their own sentences using the prepositions they learnt.

Overall comment:

The teacher conducted a successful and well-organized lesson. She was confident, and showed good subject knowledge, and effective classroom management. The activities encouraged student participation, and students responded positively.
